

SIXTEEN BURNED TO DEATH IN THREE FIRES TODAY

TWO ARRESTS ARE MADE IN GANG MURDER

"Murder Map" Found on Suspect Taken in Detroit, Mich.

BULLETIN.
Chicago, Feb. 21.—(AP)—William P. Russell, Commissioner of Police, today ordered his deputy commissioners to instruct policemen to search both public and private premises for liquor law violations as the opening move in his fight to enforce the prohibition laws in Chicago.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—(AP)—"Nosey Joe" Lewis, with prison records in Illinois and Leavenworth, has been arrested in Detroit in connection with Chicago's gang massacre.

A "murder map" was found in his pocket. It diagramed territory along the Lake Michigan shore contiguous to the North Clark Street garage in which the seven gangsters were executed just a week ago.

The arrest was made last night after "Nosey Joe" or "George A. Lewis" as he identified himself, was overheard to say he had "bumped off" a party in Chicago. A murder charge was placed against him at the request of Chicago authorities. Detroit police, however, would not discuss the arrest nor say what murder Lewis was held.

Held Alleged "Spotter."
An Assistant State's Attorney and a Chicago Police Lieutenant left immediately for Detroit. Besides Lewis, they planned to question Philip Keywell, "Purple" gangster, who was picked up yesterday by the Michigan police. A photograph of Keywell has been partly identified as being one of the "spotters" who spied upon the garage for several days preceding the mass murder.

A new witness had come forward today to give the first account of what went on in the garage during the morning hours immediately preceding the slayings. He was a telephone repair man whose identity was kept secret to prevent any attempt on his life.

Thought Rings Tapped.
This man had made several visits to the garage at 2122 North Clark Street at the request of the subscriber there who believed the line had been tapped. He was at the garage between 8:30 and 10 o'clock the morning of St. Valentine's day, leaving about half an hour before the machine guns and pistols of the slayers opened fire upon the George (Bugs) Moran gangsters.

"I never saw all seven of the dead men in the garage at one time," the witness said, "but I remember seeing all of them at one time or another on my five visits there. The morning of the shooting only two men were there—Adam Heyer and the mechanic. (Both were later slain)."

"Heyer insisted that the telephone line had been tapped, and on previous visits I had failed to convince him otherwise. This particular morning I went there determined to give the lines a thorough test. I did not find that the line had been tapped."

Asked About "Load."
"The only thing out of the way I heard that morning was a remark by Heyer to the mechanic. 'Well, kid, did that load get to Indiana, pols all right?' he said, and the mechanic answered 'I think it did.'"

"I never saw any liquor there or any signs of rum running."

Deputy Police Commissioner John Stege, back from an interrupted vacation, assumed charge of the police inquiry last night and offered a new suggestion.

"Doesn't it strike you funny that all the big men in the Moran outfit escaped?" he asked newspaperman. "Israel Edelman didn't get killed, did he? And he's a bigger man in the mob than any of those who were shot down. And 'Icewagon' Connors or Willie Marks or Frank Foster didn't get killed—or, for that matter, Bugs Moran himself."

"Just suppose that some of Moran's lesser men had been double-crossed him, dealing with a rival booze peddling outfit—Paul Morton's for example, and suppose Moran found it out. What would Moran do? Think it over."

Stege voiced an indignant denial of any theories connecting police officers with the slaying.

SEEKING $29,000,000.
New York, Feb. 21.—(AP)—A new attempt to recover from the estate of the first John Jacob Astor $29,000,000 alleged to constitute a trust made in 1815 by John Nicholas Emmerich for the benefit of descendants, with Astor as trustee, was disclosed today through a complaint filed in federal court.

KILAUEA GIVES BRIGHT DISPLAY WITH ERUPTION

Spouting Fire Illuminates Mountain Few Miles Away

Hilo, Hawaii, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Kilauea, largest of Vulcan's slowly cooling forges, was belching flame today from its crater Halemaumau, "Pit of Everlasting Fire," and providing a spectacle for hundreds of visitors here during the height of Hawaii's social season.

From subterranean depths lava and fire burst forth, hurling jets of flame 250 to 300 feet into the air. The disturbance started about 4:30 A. M. Tuesday. At first two fountains spouted upward from the pit, which is 3,500 feet across and 1,350 feet deep. Within two hours the activity had increased until scores of fire streaks spread in long cracks across the bottom of the lava pit and broke through crevices in the crater.

The watchman at Volcano House nearby was the first to note the display. With a bugle he signalled the people that an eruption had begun. They gathered in throngs to see the biggest show the islands afford. Last night the spouting fire illuminated Mauna Loa, a mountain towering 13,675 feet above the sea a few miles west and north of Kilauea, making, with its tropic setting, a scene of grandeur.

This is the first sizeable eruption of Kilauea since 1924 when it broke out suddenly and poured forth lava and hurled out rocks, ashes and smoke.

ORDER CRUISER TO CHEFOO: UP-RISING REPORT

Rebels in Nationals Army Said to Have Staged Fight

Manila, Feb. 21.—(AP)—The light cruiser Trenton left Manila today under orders to proceed to Chefoo as the result of a reported uprising in Shantung. The Trenton, proceeding under ordinary speed, is due at Chefoo Monday morning.

Reports from Chefoo ten days ago said that 3,000 former Peking soldiers who had been mustered into the Nationalist army had revolted at Lungkow, Shantung. There was fear then that the mutiny would spread to other towns and garrisons.

Later reports indicated that this may have happened and said that a battle was imminent west of Chefoo between loyal Nationalists and rebels.

Missionary women were evacuated from several towns in the affected area, although men remained at their posts.

TO INVESTIGATE FATAL WRECK ON PEORIA RAILROAD

Statement Made that Fish Plate was Broken Some Time Ago, Today

BULLETIN.

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 21.—The sixth victim of the miners' train wreck here yesterday, Bert Noel of Peoria, died today as three separate investigations toward fixing blame for the disaster were begun by officials of the county, the railroad and the miners' union.

Noel was one of 40 more seriously injured who were confined in Peoria hospitals.

Only six miners of the customary 700 to 800 were aboard the miners' train when it pulled out from Peoria this morning enroute to the Crescent mines. Many of the miners on the wrecked train yesterday said they would not go back to work until Monday, taking time off to rest up and recuperate from their injuries and shock. Work at the mines was temporarily suspended.

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Three investigations were started today into the wreck of a special miners' train yesterday which caused five deaths, critical injury to three and less serious injury to 150 others.

Coroner William Elliott announced an inquest for this afternoon while other inquiries were being conducted by the miners' union and the Peoria Terminal Railway Company. It was also believed possible that the Crescent coal mines officials might take a hand in the inquiry, although the train had not yet reached the mine spur when the accident occurred.

Plate Link Broken
Conflicting testimony was being heard, even before an official investigation had started. Some of the miners said the "fish plate"—an iron bar which connects the rails—which is believed to have caused the wreck, had been broken for some time and had not been repaired.

H. I. Battles, manager of the railroad, said the right of way has been inspected regularly and was in good condition. He advanced the theory that the extreme cold had caused the plate to break.

Plan Funerals
As funeral arrangements for the five victims were being made, the lives of three other miners were still in doubt. Thirty-eight of the 150 less seriously hurt were detained in hospitals, but were not believed to be in any serious danger.

Four cars of the eight coach train operated daily for the miners' union by the railway company plunged over a 25 foot embankment near Hollis, between here and the Crescent mines, where the men were going to work. Fire broke out in one of the overturned coaches to add to the general confusion.

The funeral of William Brown was set for Friday afternoon; that of Charles Luthy for Saturday; funeral arrangements for the other three victims, Lester Jones, George Wilkinson and Cecil Walker, had not been made early today. Among those still in critical condition were James Clark, Henry Zorn and Henry Zimmer.

Requirements for Prohibition Agent

Washington, Feb. 21.—(AP)—To become a prohibition agent these days one must not only pass a Civil Service test but must receive a clean bill from Uncle Sam's Secret Service on his department dating back to boyhood days.

This was disclosed in testimony, made public today with the report of the second deficiency bill to the House, by William C. Deming, president of the Civil Service Commission, who urged an emergency appropriation of $50,000 to enable the commission to employ additional examiners to rate tests and pass on the character of the 9,500 applicants for prohibition enforcement jobs who took the tests last December.

Informing that it would take two and a half years with the present staff to pass on the character of the applicants, Representative Wood, Republican, Indiana, asked why.

"Because it is necessary to go into an average of at least two different communities and investigate his personal life for at least five years back," Mr. Deming replied.

"The Secret Service," he added, "investigates clear back to the applicant's school days. Economy has made it necessary for us, as a rule, to investigate for an average of only about five years prior to his application."

STATE COMPLETES STRONG CASE AGAINST NEGRO WHO IS CHARGED WITH MURDER

Fellow Prisoner's Testimony Damaging to Accused

Carmi, Ill., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Hoyt McMurray, Carmi Negro, on trial here on a charge of slaying Miss Anna Anna Preher, Carmi school teacher, testified in his own defense today that he had no connection with the killing.

The Negro admitted having talked with William Johnson, his former cell mate in the Belleville, Ill., jail, but denied he had told his fellow prisoner that he had criminally assaulted and murdered the school teacher. Johnson, a star state witness, had testified that McMurray told him of the crime while the two were in jail in Belleville.

McMurray said he told Johnson that the evidence the people had against him was entirely circumstantial.

Defense testimony today was based on a contention that blood found on McMurray's coat following the killing of the teacher was hog blood. Other defense witnesses today testified that the Negro had helped slaughter hogs two days before the murder.

Carmi, Ill., Feb. 21.—(AP)—With the defense ready to open this morning the trial of Hoyt McMurray, a Negro ex-convict, charged with killing Miss Anna Preher, Carmi school teacher and civic leader, is expected to go to the jury today. The state rested late yesterday after putting 33 witnesses on the stand.

McMurray's lawyers have summoned 31 witnesses but it was not expected that all of them would be used.

Willie Johnson, a Negro, who was McMurray's cellmate at Belleville, Ill., while the alleged slayer was awaiting trial, was state's star witness yesterday. He testified to a confession McMurray made to him in jail. According to Johnson McMurray went to the school teacher's cottage to rob her, as he was aware she had funds from collecting dues for the White County Teachers' Association, of which she was Secretary-Treasurer.

Said He Had Knife.
Johnson also testified that McMurray said he was armed with a big knife; that he attacked Miss Preher and killed her when she told him she was the last white woman he would treat in such a manner.

Johnson also told McMurray saying he set fire to the house. A bundle of charred bedding was found when the body was discovered with the head nearly severed. A dull instrument was used, authorities said, although the weapon was never found.

Other witnesses included Miss Mary Johnson, a school teacher, who testified she had given a mutilated dollar bill, similar to one found in McMurray's possession when he was arrested in Paris, Ill., to Miss Preher in payment of her association dues; St. Louis Chemists who said stains on a coat and canvas gloves found at McMurray's home were made by human blood; and Miss Maude Chaffant, Superintendent of Schools here, who told of finding the body.

Defendant is Calm.
McMurray has been calm throughout the trial and watches every move in court. His only reactions seem to be to whisper to his attorneys.

The court room has been packed throughout the trial but bailiffs have not allowed spectators to stand in aisles. Yesterday would-be onlookers crowded the corridors outside the court room and even the two entrances to the building. Spectators who obtained seats for the morning session, kept them during the noon recess.

Hull Asks Passage Flood Control Bill
Springfield, Ill., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Advocating that 164 miles of the Illinois river be placed in a "flood control area," Congressman William E. Hull of Peoria urged the Illinois Assembly today to pass the pending three million dollar flood control bill as evidence to the federal government of the state's good faith.

Congressman Hull estimated that to protect the river lands from the mouth of the Illinois river to the 164 mile point near Peoria, will cost eight or nine million dollars, which the federal government should pay two-thirds and the state one-third.

The present Mississippi flood control bill, he explained, contemplates flood control on Mississippi tributaries up to a point where the Mississippi river floods influence the floods of the tributaries and provides for a two-thirds one-third ratio of payment. A tentative survey by U. S. engineers has set Beardstown as the Illinois river point, 89 miles from the river's mouth. Hull would extend this point to Peoria, and promised he would offer this amendment to the Mississippi flood bill.

The second floor, attic and roof of the house were damaged to the amount of about $300, and loss on the contents will be about the same.

SEVEN AUTOS HERE THEN

Sam Watson recently uncovered a copy of the Dixon city directory for the years of 1905-07 which contains many interesting features. In the classified section, the list of automobile owners is given and aside from four dealers, there were but seven car owners in the city. Egbert J. Kent, McGrath Brothers, Phil Miller and Miller Brothers are listed as dealers in those days. Owners of automobiles aside from the agents were Paul Brooke, S. S. Dodge, J. E. Hanson, C. H. Hughes, Dr. A. F. Moore, William Schuler and Blinn Smith.

In the classified section of the same directory, 23 saloons are listed.

At the postoffice, the customary holiday hours will prevail. There will be no delivery of mail on either the rural or city routes and all of the departments at the federal building will be closed for the day. The only activity will be the regular collection and dispatch of mails.

HEALTH CONDITIONS

The condition of the health of Dixon citizens is very good at the present time, according to Dr. J. B. Werren, city health officer, who stated this morning that there was very few cases of contagion. While the city has passed through the annual siege of small pox with a number of severe cases, Dr. Werren stated that there were but a very small number of these cases under quarantine in the city at the present time and these were very mild.

Several cases of small pox have developed east of the city, it has been reported. Families who were affected with the malady in a light form, did not report to a physician and this resulted in a spread of the disease into many homes along the River road.

HORSE RACE LAW IS UNDER FIRE IN ASSEMBLY TODAY

Its Repeal is Asked in Lower House by Aurora Representative

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Whether the Illinois law legalizing gambling on horse races has fostered embezzlement and moral depravity was proposed in the lower house of the Illinois Assembly today as a subject for legislative investigation.

Relating that charges had frequently been made that bankers, brokers, messengers and others entrusted with money had wagered on races and lost, Rep. Grover C. Hoff of Deatur offered the resolution. Under its provisions a committee of five would be appointed to investigate the charges that scandal results because there is no compulsory publication of the amount earned by race track associations.

At the same time a bill was introduced by Rep. John M. Peppers of Aurora proposing to repeal the horse race law.

The committee proposed by Hoff would report back to the present session of the Assembly with recommendation for improving alleged scandalous conditions.

Names Committee

Speaker Shanahan today appointed Representatives Waller of Tamaroa, F. W. Lewis of Robinson and Mrs. Cheney of Chicago as House members of the committee to represent Illinois at the George Rogers Clark Sesquicentennial delegation appointed yesterday and three citizens to be named by the Governor will go to Vincennes, Ind., Monday, both to attend the celebration and to determine whether Illinois should contribute to the permanent memorial to Clark which is planned for Vincennes.

Rep. Juul and Sen. Huebsch, both of Chicago, were co-authors of a bill presented this morning providing for a new congressional apportionment whereby Illinois would be divided into twenty-seven districts. At present the state has twenty-five districts. The two Congressmen-at-large from Illinois would be displaced, on the theory that their seats belong to constituencies "that have been denied their proper representation in Congress."

For Crippled Children

Conditions pertaining to hospitalization of crippled children would be studied by a commission proposed in a resolution by Rep. Homer Rice of Greenville. A constitutional amendment to the revenue article, making it possible to pass a valid income tax law, was proposed in a resolution by Rep. W. C. Chynoweth of Decatur.

The Senate today passed and sent to the House for confirmation a bill providing for construction of a bridge across the Wabash at Mt. Carmel, at a cost of $370,000. Three other measures were also sent to the lower house.

DEATH CAME TO FORMER DIXON WOMAN IN WEST

BYRD ADDS TO DISCOVERIES IN ANTARCTIC

An Extensive Flight in Southland Revealed in Dispatch

New York, Feb. 21.—(AP)—The New York Times, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and their associated newspapers announced today that Commander Richard E. Byrd, in an extensive airplane flight made with two planes on Monday last, discovered and mapped in part a vast new territory in the Antarctic, which he has claimed for the United States and has named for his wife, Marie Byrd Land.

Commander Byrd has also discovered a second new mountain range, east and south of the first discovered by him recently and named the Rockefeller Range. That range is within territory claimed by the British and known as the Ross dependency.

The new range discovered on Monday is larger than the first and contains peaks between eight and ten thousand feet high. It is outside the limit of the British claims and is in the new Marie Byrd Land, which lies between Ross Sea and Graham Land.

About 40,000 square miles of Antarctic have now been explored from the air by the Byrd Expedition. In the last flight the Rockefeller Range was mapped by aero camera, the entire new section was sketched and the uncharted coastline east of the Bay of Whales was mapped by Captain Ashley McKinley of the Army Air Service, who was in the second of the two airplanes that made the flight.

Conditions pertaining to hospitalization of crippled children would be studied by a commission proposed in a resolution by Rep. Homer Rice of Greenville. A constitutional amendment to the revenue article, making it possible to pass a valid income tax law, was proposed in a resolution by Rep. W. C. Chynoweth of Decatur.

Lenten Thought

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of The Congressionalist.
A survey of the history of Lent reminds us, among many interesting things, of the way in which customs, and even religious observances, become interwoven with material needs and interests.

We see this in our own time in the immensity of the commercial interests associated with Christmas. In this commercialism many have feared lest the spiritual meaning of Christmas be lost and it become little more than a time to be exploited for mere pleasure or gain.

Those who have this fear might well consider how the Lenten season has taken on an increasing sense of its holiness, despite the fact that this season also was once widely exploited for material ends. The eating of fish in Lent has not been wholly a matter of religious practice. In earlier times when the fishing industry of England was threatened one means of seeking to stimulate and protect the industry was by the passing of laws that made the substitution of fish for meat during Lent a legal obligation instead of a voluntary religious practice.

Customs are what we make them for ourselves.

It should not be frozen too hard and may be garnished with very cold, but not frozen, whipped cream sweetened and flavored delicately. "Muscovite" is the technical term for a simple frozen fruit.
Following are two rules for lemon butter:

Lemon Butter (1)
One-fourth cup butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons hot water, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, few grains sugar.
Work flour into butter, add lemon juice and hot water and cook, stirring constantly over hot water until mixture is thick and smooth. Do not let boil. Stir in salt and pepper and sugar and serve.

SMART BOX ENSEMBLES
Shoe cabinets now have their accompanying boxes for hats, stockings, lingerie, etc. They are covered in fabric, or in interesting papers. Sets like these often cost more than the average woman cares to spend, but they can be made at home by covering hat boxes and shoe boxes remnants of wall paper, which can be purchased at a low cost. Such ensembles make useful and charming gifts.—From the February American Home.

Palmer-Meister Wedding Celebrated

Mrs. Mildred Palmer and George Meister of Ashton were united in marriage, Thursday, February 14, at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Rev. Walter Marshall, pastor of the First Baptist church in this city. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Pfeiffer and Conrad Jr.

A sumptuous wedding supper was served at 8:30 at "Brownie's Cafe" in Ashton, under the direction of Miss Alice Pfeiffer, with the assistance of Burrell Knapp, Conrad Pfeiffer and Paul Zies.

The following guests were present at the supper: Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Pfeiffer and daughter Mary Lois, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Herbert and son Raymond, Mrs. Eunice Brown and daughter Bonnie, Mrs. Wraye Farver and sons, Earl and Robert, and Messrs. Charles Baldwin, Ralph Kersten, Harvey Mehlhausen and LeRoy Nelson. The guests presented the bride and bridegroom with a beautiful electric floor lamp as a token of remembrance of the happy evening.

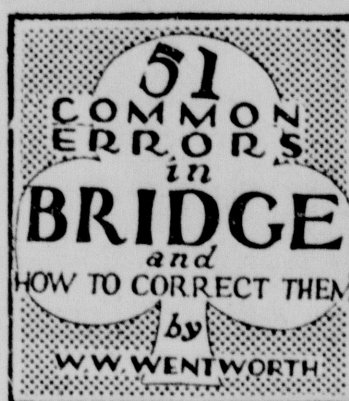

Gleim-Hillison Nuptials Wednesday

Hillison, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hillison on Wednesday morning, February 20th, which took place at the Lutheran parsonage in Ashton, with Rev. F. W. Henke officiating. The double ring ceremony was used.

The young couple were attended by the bride's younger sister, Miss Vera Gleim and the groom's brother, Mr. Clarence Hillison.

The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of the new shade of blue with accessories to harmonize. The bride's maid wore the new shade of tan.

The bride is an accomplished and highly esteemed young lady, being a

The Bidding: South bids no-trump and all pass.

Deciding the Play: West leads 3 of hearts. What card should be played from Dummy?

The Error: Queen of hearts is played and game is sacrificed.

The Correct Method: Dummy should play 4 of heart and if East wins this trick with either ace of hearts or King of hearts he will return a heart which south will cover with Jack of hearts, forcing West's highest card. The result is that Queen of hearts is established and game is made.

The Principle: Whenever holding Queen and two minor cards in Dummy, and Jack and three minor cards in the closed hand, or vice versa, avoid leading the suit; when led up to, play low unless an honor is led that you can cover, and a trick will always be made in that suit. school and recently finished the Interstate electrical college course.

Following the impressive double ring ceremony, the party went to the bride's home where a sumptuous three course turkey dinner was served to the immediate relatives by the bride's three oldest sisters, Mrs. Roy J. Ullrich, Mrs. Glen Hart and Mrs. Henry E. Hillison.

Those present besides the immediate families of both contracting parties were Rev. and Mrs. F. W. Henke, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Detsch of Dixon, and Mrs. H. W. Hillison, grandparent of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Hillison will spend their honeymoon in Chicago after which they will make their home on the groom's father's farm four miles south of Franklin Grove and will be at home to their many friends in the near future who wish them happiness.

Kling-Spencer Wedding Today

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kling, 1211 W. Sixth street, this morning about 10:30 o'clock, their daughter, Miss Ruth Kling, and Harold E. Spencer, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Spencer of Peoria avenue, were united in marriage in the presence of a few relatives and friends. Rev. A. Turley Stephenson, pastor of the First Methodist church of this city, performed the impressive ceremony.

The Kling home was attractively decorated in pink and white, with spring flowers and palms, and white wedding bells.

The bride was charming in her wedding gown of georgette, in one of the new blue shades. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses.

The young couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Herless Ditsch of Amboy, as matron of honor and best man. Mrs. Ditsch is the bride's sister. The matron of honor was attired in a pretty green georgette frock and carried delicately shaded pink roses.

After the ceremony and congratulations, a most tempting wedding breakfast was served, the dainty decorations in pink and white, flowers and wedding bells adorning the table.

At noon today Mr. and Mrs. Spencer left on a wedding trip to Chicago, the bride wearing a handsome traveling suit of a dark navy blue with hat harmonizing.

On their return from the city Mr. and Mrs. Spencer will make their home with the bride's parents, at 1211 W. Sixth street. She will con-

ART OF SPANKING IS THEME OF BULLETIN

Miami, Fla.—(AP)—"A blow above the belt or below the knees may be termed a foul, but the territory between the two boundaries is open."

This excerpt is from a bulletin given school teachers here, dealing with the proper method of spanking.

Further, the bulletin declares, modern methods ban "knuckle rapping, check slapping and all instruments capable of producing bodily injury."

Spankings should be performed leisurely, the bulletin asserts, and under no circumstance earlier than 24 hours after the offense.

Pupils who read the bulletin probably experience their greatest difficulty in understanding the paragraph:

"Punishment must be administered in kindness."

to occupy her position as book-keeper and cashier at the J. C. Penney Co. store in this city. She is an attractive young woman with a wide circle of friends who join those of her husband in wishing the young couple every happiness. Mr. Spencer is employed at the American Cab and Body Co. and is also a valued member of the orchestra known as the Alaskans.

The guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. John Kling, parents of the bride; Mrs. Sias Heng, Mrs. S. J. Mail and Mr. and Mrs. Herless Ditsch of Amboy.

WHY? The Civic Music Association?

I. To Popularize Good Music in the Community.

Believing that popular music is familiar music the Civic Music Association is being organized to bring fine concerts to a greater number of people on a cooperative, economical and popular basis.

Too many people regard a concert as a mystic performance requiring a special knowledge and a trained ear to make it comprehensible. This is a mistake. Technical skill is necessary for an artist, but not for an audience.

II. To Further the Artistic Advancement of the Community.

The sponsors of the Civic Music Association believe that high minded citizens desire good music and believe in its sound moral influence on the community. For this reason a plan of presenting civic concerts in our city each season, given by great singing artists, violinists, pianists, orchestras, etc., should meet with instant favor.

III. To Insure Financial Security in Bringing Great Concerts to the Community.

There are no guarantors for the Civic Music Association. The membership dues finance all concerts and operations, and no individual tickets are sold for any concerts, which are for members only.

No profit can be derived and no loss sustained under this plan. The more members secured during the week means the more or greater concerts to be presented, as all of the money is expended for this purpose.

IV. Permanency in Our Concert Series. Memberships continue for succeeding years, unless one wishes to resign. Through this plan the Civic Music Association insures our city of concerts each season without ticket selling.

Honor Neighbors About to Depart

The many friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Meckel assembled at their home near Van Petten, Sunday evening. A very good time was enjoyed by all. They will soon move to a farm four miles west of Harmon.

A. A. Hermes in a few well chosen words, presented Mr. and Mrs. Meckel with a lovely casserole, given by their friends to show in a small way in what high esteem they are held by this vicinity. They have lived eight years in this vicinity.

A delicious lunch was served after which the guests departed wishing Mr. and Mrs. Meckel much success in their new home.

ANNE AND LINDY.

Miss Anne Morrow by this time has discovered that it is impossible to bind one's self to one of America's public figures without stepping squarely into the brightest glare that modern publicity appliances can provide.

A few days ago Miss Morrow, in the eyes of most Americans, was "just another rich man's daughter." Now she is the most talked-of girl in the nation. If her face is not as well-known in the remotest hamlets as Mary Pickford's or Queen Marie's, it will be in a short time. Before long she will, beyond doubt, be wondering where on earth all her old-time privacy has gone.

It is nearly two years since her husband-to-be startled all of us by flying alone across the Atlantic. Oddly enough, the American public, which usually idolizes a man for a week and then thoroughly forgets him, still keeps Lindbergh on a pedestal. So Miss Morrow, her engagement announced, finds herself beside him in the limelight. It will be a long time before her most casual act or word will cease to interest all of her fellow-citizens.

Really, when you stop to think about it, the way in which Lindbergh has kept his fame and popularity is remarkable. He has long since out-lived the ordinary span of public acclaim. He has, in fact, become a sort of institution; or, to put it better, he has become a symbol.

All of us feel, at times, that we are more earth-bound than we deserve. There is something in us that makes us long for freedom; not simply the right to do and say what we please, but that unattainable freedom of movement that eagles have. As children, we build fanciful dreams about flying. When we grow up we keep a residuum of these dreams, and they make us always a little bit discontented, no matter how fortunate our earthly lot.

The development of aviation has some along to help us sublimate this queer desire. The flyer has that freedom for which we long. He soars, dips and spins far above the earth, penetrates the clouds and rides on the wings of the wind. There is something about an airplane speeding across the blue overhead that thrills every one of us.

And Lindbergh, by his own personality and exploits, stepped in to focus all of this emotion on himself. He flies alone across the Atlantic, wanders across the United States, sails blithely down through Latin America, seems immune to the dangers that beset lesser men; and each of us envies him profoundly. He typifies, for all of us, the freedom and release that this new age is bringing.

Perhaps that is why Lindbergh is still as popular as he was when he first returned from Europe. More than any other man, he carries a little bit of our private dreams and longings with him.

Consequently, the girl who marries him cannot hope to have much privacy. By becoming Mrs. Lindbergh she steps into the gallery of public people. To Anne Morrow, Lindy is a lover; but the rest of us have a claim on him, too. She will have to share him with us all.

OLD AND NEW HAVANA.

Havana is rapidly becoming one of the favorite ports of call for the American tourist. The great influx of visitors has made the Cuban capital a "boom town"; hotels and shopkeepers are thriving, and the city is becoming Americanized at a rapid rate.

To the American tourist, Havana's chief charm—aside, perhaps, from the fact that Cuba does not have prohibition—lies in Havana's atmosphere of old-time romance. Relics of colonial Spain are found on every hand, and they constitute the city's chief attraction.

But a writer in the current Harper's Bazaar reveals that the Cuban finds these things extremely boring. To him, the notable things about the city are its modern improvements. He waxes eloquent over the wide new streets, the electric lights, the Americanized suburbs, the up-to-date shops; while the American visitor, fleeing from just such things, spend his time looking for that which is out of date and quaint.

It makes a difference, apparently, whether a place is your home town or just a vacation spot.

A 13-year-old boy in California has received a letter from Professor Einstein, commending him on his grasp of the relativity theory. Now wouldn't it be just like some kindergarten pupil in Florida to prove Einstein's all wrong?

A small town is one where the newspaper prints a short story about the death of one of the city's leading drayman's work horses.

We read in the paper that William Wrigley was going to support Colonel Stewart, but read no headlines such as "Wrigley Sticks to Stewart."

The early bird often gets his own breakfast.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinies hung on to the rope and Scouty cried, "At last there's hope. All we need do is work toward shore, and drop down on the sand."

The Sea Man helped us once again. He's very handy, now and then. Come on, now, follow me and we'll move fast, hand over hand."

Along the rope they worked their way, and Mister Sea Man yelled "Hurray! Your troubles seem all over, 'cause you'll shortly be on shore." Then, as they dropped down on the sand, each Tiny shook their good friend's hand. "Run up and down the beach," said he, "and dry your clothes once more."

The Tinymites replied, "All right." And with the old sun shining bright, it wasn't long till they were dry and feeling very good. The Sea Man then said, "I must go, and I just want you all to know, I'd like to take you all along. I only wish I could."

Into the stream he quickly ran. "Well, well, there goes the old Sea Man," said Scouty. "Now let's try and find those Trouble Tots real quick. We'll catch them, and then spank them good, just as, no doubt, they know we should. 'Twill teach them all they shouldn't play another funny trick."

They scampered up a nearby hill. Then Copy whispered, "Wait! Be still. I see the Tots all standing in the valley down below. Let's sneak up quick. Don't make a noise. We'll sure surprise those naughty boys." But, as the Tinies draw up near the Tots all shouted, "Oh!"

And then they ran up to a bird. The next thing that the Tinies heard was merry shouts of laughter, as the Tots rose toward the sky. Their quick escape was very neat. They merely grabbed the big bird's feet, and as the bird winged out of sight the Tots all yelled, "Good-bye."

(The Tinymites return to their regular size in the next story.) (Copyright, 1929, I&A Service, Inc.)

THE INAUGURAL PAGEANT

From Washington to Hoover

BY ALEXANDER R. GEORGE (Associated Press Feature Writer)

Washington—(AP)— It is full tide of the flamboyant "eighties." A hazy sun sheds a soft light on Washington, decorated in a profusion and gaiety of color unmatched in inaugural history. In the avenues approaching the Capitol, military companies and political clubs are massed in columns, forming a brilliant vista as far as the eye can reach.

Three rolls of drums and then the familiar tread of the Grand Army of the Republic. President Cleveland in the reviewing stand lifts high his tall hat. A once familiar sound floats down Pennsylvania avenue. No Yankee could give that high pitched cry—it's the rebel yell. Maj. Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, "riding like a centaur," at the head of the proud columns of Virginia amid applause from the presidential stand.

Negro troopers gallop by the spot where, at the last inauguration of a Democratic president, a slave man stood. The braves of Tammany Hall, some in Indian garb and carrying tomahawks, march in an inaugural parade for the first time in the long history of the society.

One hundred men of the Cook county Democratic club of Chicago, in olive brown overcoats, silk hats and black dress suits, the 69th regiment of New York in scarlet uniforms... the Duckworth club of Cincinnati, dark suits, white plug hats, light English Melton coats faced with satin, and white satin neckties.

Cheers "like the roaring of Niagara" greeted President-elect Cleveland as he rode from the White House to the Capitol in an open barouche drawn by President Arthur's spanking bays. The presidential carriage was lined with black and white robes, Vice President-elect Hendricks rode in another open barouche, lined with crimson satin and pulled by four white horses, two famous Arabians in the lead.

After taking the oath of office, President Cleveland kissed the small, worn Bible his mother had given him as a boy when he left home. Phil Sheridan, still vigorous and ruddy, stood nearby. The "camera men" hurriedly spread black mantles over their machines and "shot" the famous scene while hundreds of men and boys looked on from the roof of the Capitol. It was estimated there were 150,000 people massed on the grounds and nearby streets.

In the evening, there was a great display of fireworks back of the White House. "The heavens for a time were a mass of gold, silver and variegated colored lights. Thousands of rockets rent the air, exploding showers of beautiful stars."

The inaugural ball was held in the ballroom of the new Pension building. A reporter of the day describes its breath-taking grandeur:

"Without the least fear of exaggeration, the scene presented within the ballroom may be said to have been the most magnificent in point of dazzling brilliancy and varied richness ever witnessed in America. The glare of powerful gas lamps in all directions, the handsome toilets of the ladies and the varied uniforms of military and naval officers made pleasing contrasts with the flags, bunting, banners, and draperies of ceiling, balcony, wall and pillar."

The marine band, directed by John Philip Sousa, gave a concert until 11 o'clock, when the Germania orchestra of Philadelphia played for the dancers until 3 in the morning. On the inaugural banquet menu were boned pheasant with truffles, bastion a Le Democrat, Cordon Rouge, Grand Sec and Mumm's Extra Dry.

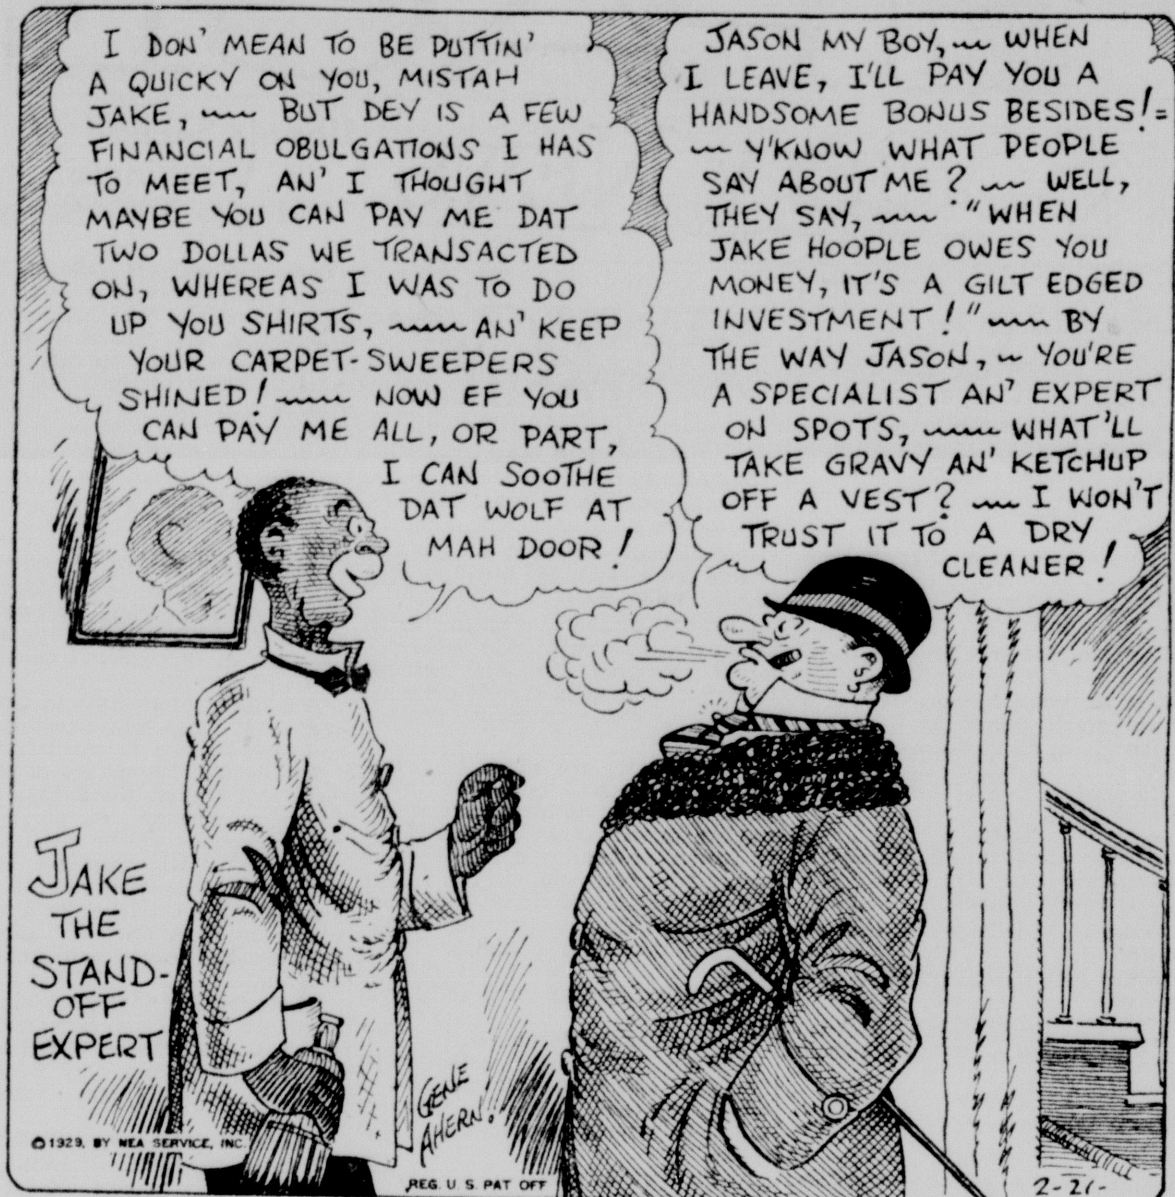

A news dispatch from Bridgeport, Conn., said that 500 persons gathered in the street in front of the Sterling hotel at noon on March 4 expecting to witness payment of a wager made before the presidential election, which was that a married woman would kiss the first man she met at 12 o'clock if Cleveland was inaugurated.

The woman failed to appear and the crowd, after waiting an hour, dispersed. A notice was posted on a tree saying:

"The woman has been attacked with smallpox and the kissing has been postponed until March 4, 1889." The announcement that Minnie Palmer, song and dance artist, had 240 pairs of silk stockings, created a sensation in feminine circles, where the progressive euphure craze had reached feverish heights.

SMOOTHER AND BETTER—"NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD"

With Honce on His Trip Around State of Illinois

BY CHARLES HONCE

(Associated Press News Editor)
Joliet, Ill.—(AP)—The progress of Joliet's big neighbor to the north—Chicago—doesn't worry this city a bit.

Instead of the metropolis sapping and overshadowing the suburban cities, the latter are developing faster by ratio than Chicago. And no territory is undergoing urbanization faster than the valleys of the Kankakee and Fox rivers with their sparkling necklace of municipalities—dependent outposts of the city by the inland sea.

With a metropolitan population of 75,000 Joliet is another Illinois city pushing toward the 100,000 goal, and if its present rate of growth is maintained it is going over the top before long.

City growth is based on industry and Joliet, capital of Will county, can muster its share. One hundred and sixty-six manufacturing plants give employment to more than 15,000 wage earners in the Joliet region.

Transportation also means a lot to a city, and Joliet, with four trunk railway systems and two of the largest belt lines, has become the third most important railroad center in Illinois. Sixty trains daily pass through Joliet and nine public highways lead in and out of the city.

Downtown Joliet has distinctly a metropolitan air. Many fine new buildings have been constructed in the last few years and others have been started or are in the offing. A current issue of the Joliet-Herald News contains the announcement of plans for a new business block. In Joliet's business quarter is one of the largest and most beautifully appointed theaters in the middlewest. It is reported to have cost a couple of million or more.

Joliet's accomplishments have been recorded in less than a century. The first white men came into the present Joliet township in 1831, found it a good place to live, and presently a settlement was under way.

There were plenty of Indians here in those days—the friendly Potawatomi, and although they gave the settlers little trouble, the white man always kept a wary eye on them.

When the Black Hawk war was raging in 1832, the few settlers who remained on their claims in Will county, figured that they would be safer in a fort and so they constructed one on territory now within the present city limits of Joliet.

"Fort Nonsense," it was called because its architects had made no provision for water or food. However, the settlers seemed to have found little use for it anyway. The Indian has long since passed to the happy hunting ground and the little settlement on the Des Plaines river which had its birth in the midst of an Indian war has developed into one of the leading cities of the state.

Speaking of forts, Will county has the remnant of another one—a fort wrapped in the hazy cloak of mystery and romance. No one knows why or when it was built. It is to be found in the eastern part of a city park formerly known as Highbotham woods. The woods was an 80-acre tract, untouched by an axe until 1913 when it was stripped. The tract was decided for a park several years later.

Usually the fort is spoken of as Fort Highbotham. It was surveyed many years ago and found to be 129 feet by 146 feet of an irregular outline. Within it were found white oak trees 300 years old. Presumably they grew after the fort was built. The wall contained three cavities indicating that the garrison has a well, a magazine or storehouse and a shelter cave.

While on the subject of olden times mention might be made of the Indian mounds which have been found in Will county south of Joliet.

"In northeastern Illinois," writes August Maie in his recent history of Will county, "where the Des Plaines and Kankakee rivers converge to form the Illinois, is an old Indian village and mound site, which after extensive excavation has yielded interesting disclosures."

"There are two circular eminences; the 'big east mound,' five feet high and 50 feet in diameter, and the 'big west mound,' 6 feet by 60. Near them are smaller mounds and around these are about forty circular pits, from 15 to 30 feet in diameter, several feet deep and bordered by raised gravel ridges."

"Excavations revealed three levels, or layers, of graves. The upper layer disclosed post-European objects. The arrow heads and rejected parts were such as were found with Indians when the whites knew them. The middle level revealed remains which had not been disturbed much. The skulls and bones were of a smaller people. Arrowheads were untempered, triangular in shape, and made of chert. Long, slender 'drillpoints' were found."

"The lower layer contained remains which indicated larger men and women. They faced north in crouching positions with no relics excepting a few ornaments made from marine shells. Four flints were found in one grave, but they evidently were not man made."

"Burial customs for those found in the upper level could not be determined because the remains had been disturbed. In the middle level some were buried in prone while others were in a crouching position. The relics seemed to be such as had been used for necklaces or other ornaments. In the lower level they lay upon their sides with knees drawn up and arms bent with hands beneath the chin and feet east. A pot of artifacts was found in almost every grave. Large clay pots were found with the female adults and smaller ones with children. Frequently the bones of one hand were within a pot. The pots contained clam shell spoons covered with a gritty brown film. Bits of bones were found in some which seemed to have held broth or stew."

No mention of Joliet would be complete without some note of the prison. Joliet residents are not keen, however, on the use of "Joliet" as a synonym for "prison." As a matter of fact the new state penitentiary is at Stateville, which wipes Joliet out of much of the prison news.

The original prison was authorized by the legislature in 1857 and two years later prisoners began to be moved here from Alton. It was just fifty years later that the assembly made an appropriation for the acquisition of land for the relocation of the prison.

The resulting institution, known as Stateville, has attracted national and international attention because of the plan of its cell houses and the modern prison methods used. The cell houses are circular in form. The cells are arranged in five tiers against the exterior wall so that each cell has its own window, natural air and light. Each cell is large enough to accommodate one man comfortably and is equipped with a bed and toilet facilities. The inclosure includes nearly seventy acres, being one of the latest tracts devoted to that purpose in the United States. The cell houses are connected with one another with the general dining room by corridors. The grounds inclose space for all forms of athletic recreation.

Joliet would prefer to talk of its homes and schools and civic enterprises. The Joliet township high school is considered the largest and one of the finest in the west. It has an auditorium with a seating capacity of 2500. The school has jumped into the news recently by furnishing a high school band which thrice has won national laurels.

The Joliet Herald-News, one of the Copley Press newspapers, and a member of The Associated Press is published here. Its roots go back to 1839 when its ancestor, the Joliet Courier came into being. Edward Corlett is the publisher.

WHOOPIING COUGH IS DANGEROUS TO SMALL CHILDREN

The State Department of Health Issues a Warning Today

Springfield, Feb. 21.—With a fifty percent rise in the prevalence of whooping cough since the first of the year and a forecast of a continued increase in the immediate future, the State Department of Public Health issued a warning here today that this disease is extremely fatal to babies under two years old. Nearly 60 percent of the 4119 deaths caused by whooping cough during the last ten years in Illinois were among babies under two years old and 52 per cent of them were among children less than one.

"Postponement of whooping cough until after the age of two would save 350 lives annually in Illinois," says the statement. "Avoid the disease until age five and nearly all deaths from that cause, an average of more than 400 annually, would be prevented."

"We are now in the midst of what is called the winter whooping cough season. Case reports have risen from about 100 to 150 per week since January first. February and March usually yield a higher prevalence than January and the trend seems to be running true to form this year. Probably not more than 40 per cent of the cases that actually occur are reported but the story ultimately finds its way into the records on the death certificates of little babies who get infected."

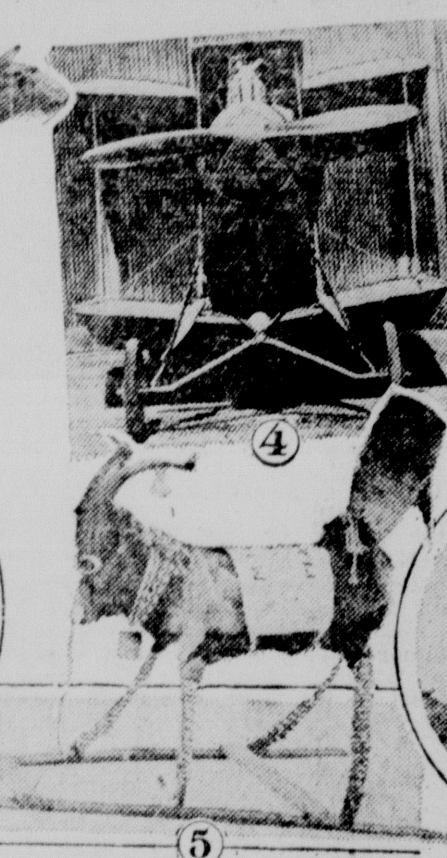

"Whooping cough is mighty serious to the child under one year old. Nearly 53 per cent of the 4119 deaths from that cause in the state during the last ten years were in this age group. Mortality figures compiled by the state health department by age groups for the decade 1918 to 1927 are as follows:

Age	Deaths	Percent
Under 1 Year	2177	52.8
1 Year	1084	26.3
2 Years	352	8.5
3 Years	188	4.5
4 Years	109	2.4
5-9 Years	163	4.0
Over 9	50	1.5
Total	4119	100

"Manifestly the dangerous age is under two and the younger the child the greater the danger."

"Hope of eradicating or entirely preventing whooping cough must be deferred at least for the present. We can control it, however, and the most practical control measure is to postpone it until after age five if possible and certainly until after age three. "Keeping babies away from other children and older people with colds or other illness is the surest safeguard. Vaccine seems to have a definite preventive value and is recommended for use when young babies have been exposed. Medical care is imperative for the welfare of young children sick with whooping cough."

INTERESTING VIEWS AROUND THE WORLD WITH NEA'S CAMERAMEN

From all parts of the world, cameramen for The Dixon Evening Telegraph and NEA Service send interesting photographs—wherever there are pictures to be taken there is an

NEA cameraman to take them. In this varied assortment are: (1) President-elect Herbert Hoover in Florida; (2) a strange species of the deer family, found in Africa, and sent by Fred H. Pope, missionary, to Mishawaka, Ind., to be mounted; (3) General Bramwell Booth, commander of the Salvation Army, with his grandchildren. General Booth has been the center of a battle to remove him from authority; the picture was taken in England where the fight was waged; (4) a new sports plane developed by Major Mario de Barnardi, Italian speed king. It has a cruising speed of 95 miles an hour and when the wings are folded it can be stored in an ordinary garage; (5) here is a sled "hobby horse" for children at Murren, Switzerland—or possibly it should be called a "hobby goat"; (6) Betty Ordway, daughter of the Lucius Ordways of Chicago and New York, is one of the thousands of children enjoying the sunshine during the winter at Palm Beach, Fla., and other Florida resorts; (7)

Getting Cases in Incipency is Important

BY JOE P. BOWDOIN, M. D.
Deputy Commissioner of Health,
Atlanta, Ga.

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Institute are at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

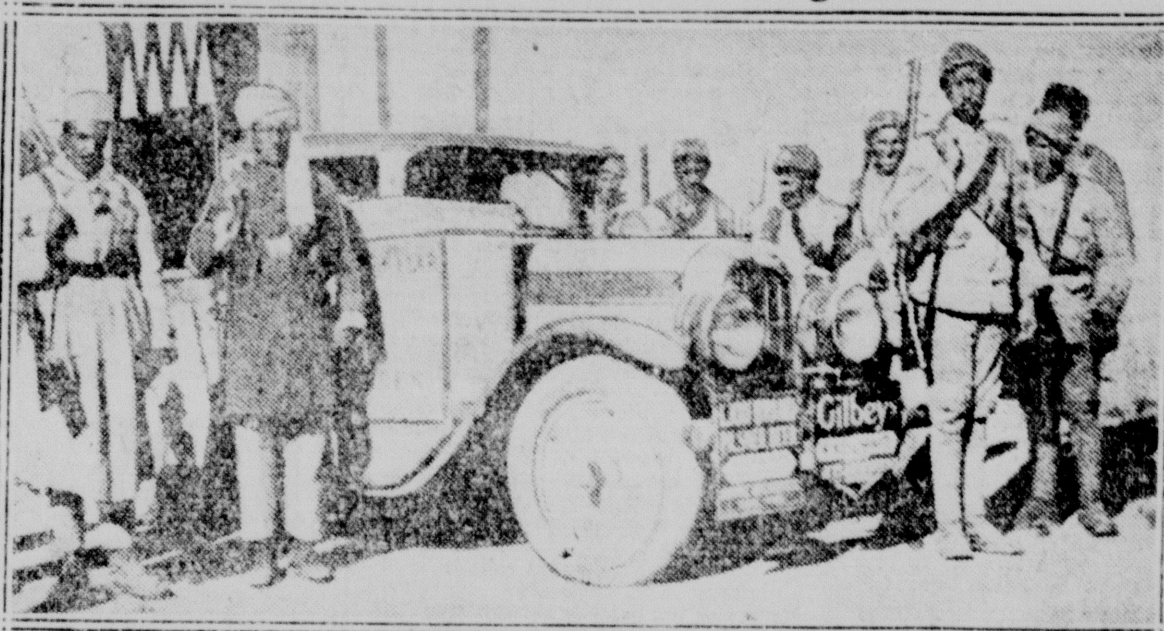

All physicians, statisticians, welfare workers and others interested in the prolongation of human life, especially of young children, realize that the greatest handicap lies in the difficulty of getting the case in the incipency of the disease. This is the paramount problem both in the extension and the saving of human life.

The delay on the part of the parents in calling a physician is largely due to lack of education. If we can get the truth to the father and mother that an ill baby needs immediate care, we shall have gone a long way towards the goal for which every good doctor is striving. Of still more importance is the prevention of illness by the regular examination of the apparently healthy baby and preschool child.

The Georgia State Board of Health has in the past few months made physical examinations of 3,021 rural preschool children. In this number 7,688 defects were found. Out of the total number of children examined, only 61 were without defects. Individual conferences to the number of 2,022 were held with the parents of these children. If opportunity existed and rural clinics could be organized, most of the defects could be corrected. Waiting for school entrance is too late. Every school child should be physically fit when it enters school. It is an expensive proposition for the State to try to educate a physically handicapped pupil. It is not fair to the child. It is not just to the taxpayer. Nor is it to the best interest of the other pupils in the school. So many of the defects could be prevented by the proper care of the baby if the mother only knew. One of the most important things is for the mother to have proper and thorough prenatal care. The baby should be taken care of properly when it arrives. It should be given all the protective vaccines early. Smallpox at six months; typhoid vaccine at nine months; typhoid vaccine later. Most state health departments publish pamphlets and baby books for the expectant mothers. The federal government has many good publications that may be had. The county medical societies are interested, and will be glad to respond to

Caught in the riots in Kabul, Afghanistan, when King Amanullah was forced to flee his throne, an American honeymooning couple, Mr. and Mrs. Isaacson, were escorted out of the trouble zone by loyal Afghan troops. ested, and will be glad to respond to speakers on health topics.

The span of human life has been considerably lengthened in the past quarter of a century, but we are still confronted with the fact that infant mortality is far too high and the maternity death rate appalling. The remedy must be found and, to repeat, the thing of chief importance is education of the masses in matters of health.

Keys Sentenced: Plans His Appeal

Los Angeles, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Aas Keyes, former District Attorney of Los Angeles county, today fell back upon his second line of defense, an appeal to a higher court in his fight to escape a sentence of one to four years in San Quentin penitentiary. Keyes and Ed Rosenberg, one of his co-defendants in the recent bribery-conspiracy trial here, were sentenced yesterday by Superior Judge Edward T. Butler after a motion for a new trial had been denied. Ben Getzoff, Los Angeles tailor, through whose hands some $140,000 was alleged to have passed to Keyes from defendants in cases prosecuted by the former District Attorney, was not sentenced. Getzoff was convicted with Rosenberg and Keyes and later made an alleged confession to District Attorney Buron Fitts in which further instances of bribery were mentioned.

Once again Leonard Seppala from Nome, Alaska, has won the New England sled dog racing championship. Here you see the veteran musher and his panting huskies—victors in this event for the third successive year—at the finish line in Laconia, N. H., after covering 128 miles in three grueling days. Seppala led the former international champion, Emil St. Godard, the runner-up by only 12 minutes and 17 seconds.

RICKARD'S LUCK FALLS ON GARDEN IN ITS PROMOTION

Tex's "Experiment" in the South Promises to be Productive

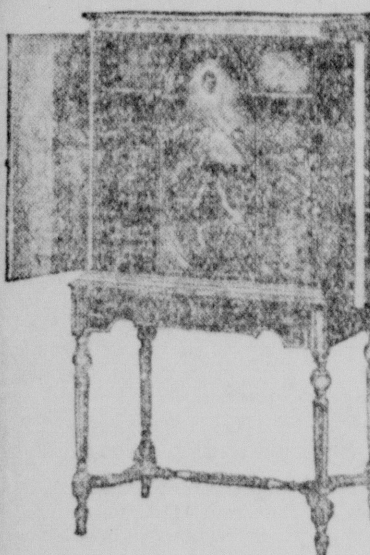

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 21—(AP)—The mantle of luck that seemed to shroud Tex Rickard's shoulders in his apparently his death over the entire Madison Square Garden Corporation. Scarcely a month ago the directors of the Garden organization and even doubtfully Bill Carey, the two-fisted railroad builder who has taken Tex's place at the helm, argued for days the feasibility of carrying out Rickard's dream of an outdoor heavy-weight contest in the south while winter gripped arenas in the north. The plan, when originated, seemed feasible to none but Rickard and even he had his doubts.

Considered Experiment.
It is no secret now that Tex, before he died, told the directors of his organization that the battle of the Everglades, featuring Young Stribling, the slugging Georgian and Jack Sharkey of Boston, must be considered in the light of his own personal experiment. If any profits were made on the affair, the corporation would receive them. Any loss Tex planned to foot himself.

Rickard, seeking to divorce himself slowly from the game that made him wealthy, had invested heavily in ventures here. Tex wanted to spend his latter years in the ease of the south. Miami Beach was the choice of his future home. The dog-racing track, the Beauville Casino and the rusty steel skeleton of a $1,000,000 recreation pier all are evidence of Rickard's belief in the solvency of the south.

As Advertisement
He planned the fight next Wednesday night as a gigantic advertising proposition not only for his investments here but for the corporation as well. Tex once said he was willing to take a loss of $100,000 and consider it well spent. But, when the old master of the ballyhoo died, the Garden directors could see little reason, with Rickard's genius gone, for carrying out what seemed so helpless a proposition. The guarantee of $100,000 to Sharkey and the cost of erecting an arena offered the two largest obstacles.

And now from an entirely unexpected source comes the promise that the Garden Corporation unwittingly has stumbled into a new by-product of boxing, a discovery that may prove one of the most prosperous in the history of the sport instead of a financial failure.

So great has been the advertising that has come to Miami Beach through the battle itself that Bill Carey already has received propositions from cities in California and other parts of Florida, but Tampa on the west coast seems to have out-distanced all the rest.

Tampa Offers $500,000.
Carey was amazed at an unofficial offer of $500,000 from the rival resort to stage another heavyweight engagement next winter beside the waters of Tampa Bay. The money was offered the Garden Corporation, he said, merely for the staging of a match in that city without thought of a share in the profits. Although Miami Beach paid nothing for the privilege of staging the Sharkey-Stribling match, indications are that the prosperity resulting will bring the society resort into the bidding for any return engagements that the Garden may play in the south.

Both Sharkey and Stribling, close to top condition, are planning to taper off in workouts from now until next Wednesday. Sharkey sealed 189 after yesterday's workout, his lowest poundage in three years.

Dixon High Plays Last Home Contest

The Dixon high school basketball team will play their last game on the home floor tomorrow evening, meeting Mendota in a double header. The Mendota team has gone through a bad season with few victories to their credit and the style of basketball that Dixon has been playing the past few weeks, rates the D. H. S. as being by far the better of the two teams with excellent prospects for the victory in both games. The lightweights will play the opener to be followed by their senior stars. This being the last game of the season, it is expected that the south side gymnasium will attract a capacity crowd to the Mendota game.

Canadian National Track Meet Tonight

Toronto, Feb. 21—(AP)—Making his eighth start in less than three weeks, Percy Williams, Canada's double Olympic winner, provides the principal attraction at the Canadian National track and field championships at the Coliseum here tonight. Coming directly from Detroit where he added another victory to his list of indoor triumphs last night, Williams will run in the 60-yard dash.

CHRISTNER AND PAULINO CLASH TOMORROWNIGHT

Slugging Should be a Feature of Battle in New York

New York, Feb. 21—(AP)—The bald head and terrific punch of Meyer Wilner (K. O.) Christner, aged heavyweight from Akron, will make their second appearance in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night with one of the hardest skulls in the boxing business as the object of his wallop. That hard head rests on the sturdy shoulders of Paulino Uzcudun, who has exposed it to the blows of most of the current crop of heavyweights without much damage. The exchange is scheduled to go through ten rounds.

Christner has gained a little in experience and more in confidence through his battle with Sharkey. Although defeated it proved that he can stay the limit with one of the best of the present day heavyweights and hand out punishment while he is receiving it.

In the Basque woodchopper he has an entirely different type of opponent and one who may give him a harder struggle. Paulino's trick of wading in with his head down and protected by both arms makes him a difficult target for even a good boxer. And K. O. has no claim to that distinction.

LONG DISPUTE IN SOUTH AMERICA IS PEACEFULLY ENDED

Peru and Chile Sign an Agreement in Tacna-Arica Area

Santiago, Chile, Feb. 21—(AP)—The Tacna-Arica boundary dispute, born in war and thriving through 45 years on international strife, has been settled by peaceful means.

Official announcement here today says that an agreement has been reached between the governments of Peru and Chile, the two countries involved, by which the province of Tacna goes to Peru and that of Arica to Chile.

The boundary between the two provinces is fixed slightly north of the railroad leading from the Port of Arica to La Paz, Bolivia. This railroad of the utmost importance to Bolivia since it is her sole outlet to the Pacific, remains in Chilean territory until it crosses the Bolivian frontier.

The railroad from Tacna to Arica will be in Peruvian control, while a spur which is to be constructed at Arica connecting the two lines will be under Chilean control.

The agreement is the result of negotiations undertaken just four months ago, after resumption of diplomatic relations between them at the invitation of the United States Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg last July.

The Tacna-Arica dispute had its birth in 1879 when Chile occupied the two provinces in the course of a war with Peru and Bolivia. The treaty of Arica ended the conflict in 1884, and provided they should remain in Chilean control for ten years when a plebiscite was to be undertaken to determine their future state.

Peru maintained the Chilean government attempted unfair nationalization of the two provinces and the plebiscite was not held, the argument between the two countries continuing furiously for more than 25 years. War was often threatened, the nature of the conflict being such that it might have involved nearly all of South America.

The territory which has been in dispute has no great actual or potential commercial value. Chile's famous nitrate fields lie to the south. Arica, the chief town, has dwindled greatly in population in recent years and now probably has not more than 5000 population. It is, however, important as the seaport through which most of the Bolivian trade with the Pacific is handled.

The region is of volcanic origin and has sulphur and borax as practically its only minerals. It is richer in agricultural products, however, growing large quantities of cocoa plants, while along the Sama river, northern boundary of Tacna, raisins are produced.

Nurmi Not Ready to Meet Wide, Sweden

New York, Feb. 21—(AP)—Although he has added another race to his long program, Paavo Nurmi is not yet ready to meet his old rival Edwin Wide of Sweden, in a two-mile duel. Nurmi has accepted the invitation of the New York County American Legion to compete in its meet here Feb. 27 but he also has decided that the two-mile steeplechase, not the flat race in which the Swedish schoolmaster is entered, will be his event at the national indoor track and field championships next Saturday.

Paavo has beaten Wide ten times in 12 meetings but evidently he has decided he is not in condition to meet the smooth striding Swede. He has been having more or less trouble all through his American campaign with stiffness in his legs. In the steeplechase Nurmi should win without much effort unless another ancient rival, Willie Ritola, decides to give him some competition.

FARMER-SUPPORT THREE-CENT TAX ON MOTOR FUEL

Institute Voices Its Support of Hoover Farm Board Plan

Centralia, Ill., Feb. 21—(AP)—The three-cent gasoline tax sponsored by Governor Emmerson was approved by the Illinois State Farmers' Institute, in session here today. A resolution adopted was similar to endorsement voted by the Illinois Agricultural Association at its Danville meeting.

In anticipation of the federal farm board expected of the Hoover administration, the Farmers' Institute voiced its support of that plan for farm relief.

Recognizing the vocational agricultural instruction in the high schools of the state as "a most practical form of training for successful farming," the institute went on record as favoring its expansion and voted to urge the state legislature to provide more adequate appropriations.

Proposed legislation to create a Buy-Illinois Products Commission received approval of the Institute. The Resolutions committee, sponsoring the above expressions, consists of Frank S. Haines, Geneseo, chairman; L. C. Brown, LaGrange; A. C. Everingham, Chicago; Clayton C. Pickett, St. Louis; and Harry Wilson, Pinckneyville.

"FIELD DAY" FOR GAS TAX BILL ON NEXT WEDNESDAY

Determined Opposition to Emmerson's Plan is Organized

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 21—(AP)—What the future holds for Governor Emmerson's three cent gas tax bill was the dominant subject for discussion among Illinois legislators today despite the fact that today's program calls for no consideration of the bill.

By agreement between opponents and proponents, next Wednesday has been set as "field day" for the bill, and every one with a grievance will be allowed the floor.

Steadily growing in strength, opponents of the executive tax proceeds plan have steadily increased their demands. Originally asking for one sixth of the three cent tax, cities now seek a full third of the tax for maintenance of city streets.

Outlined at a committee hearing by A. D. McCarthy, secretary of the Illinois Municipal League, which was first bold enough to criticize the administration measure, this one cent apportioned to cities would be used as follows:

Cities Want One Third
First, for maintenance and widening of streets designated as state routes through cities; second, for grade separations on these streets; third, for bridges on these routes; fourth, for improvement of streets running parallel to state routes or

HOW TO FIGHT EXCESS FAT

There are hard ways, like starvation, but fewer and fewer employ them. There is a pleasant way, modern and scientific, which combats the cause. A vast number of people now use it. And the slender figures now seen everywhere are largely due to that.

That method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. And everybody, in almost every circle, sees the change. New beauty, new health, new vitality.

Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the scientific reasons for results. So users have no fear of harm. Learn the facts about Marmola, because of the good it has done. Ask your druggist—now—for a $1 box with the book. Then decide.

connecting state routes; and lastly, for other city streets.

He pointed out that this plan would mean that an estimated $8,000,000 annually would be used in upkeep of bond issue roads, although expended within the corporate limits of cities. Under his plan, Chicago would receive $4,000,000 in excess of the amount already apportioned under the Governor's plan.

He argued that the state's hard roads contemplated under the sixty and hundred million dollar issues, could be completed, "with judicious expenditure of the money," within five years, although the state would receive only one-cent of the three cent tax.

Meanwhile, Chicago legislators have banded together to insist on what they believe is equality for the city.

Downstate Join.
Two downstate Senators joined with ten Chicago Senators, and a proportionate number of downstate representatives with thirty lower House members from Cook county in this organization. The downstate Senators were Charles Lee of Decatur and E. J. Abt of East St. Louis, and representatives from the East St. Louis district were included in the lower House organization. Rep. Michael Igoe of Chicago, accepted as leader of the insurgent group, believes 95 per cent of Cook county members and an appreciable large number of downstate members will join the movement.

It appears, therefore, that on field day next Wednesday, Governor Emmerson will find opposing him a united Cook county delegation; downstate members who heed the demands of their city officials; and a number of others who, because of other interests, seek some amendments of the bill.

While the Governor insists that the bill is out of his hands and in the hands of the Assembly, he is said to still believe in following the present distribution plan. The plan was announced by his spokesmen in the Assembly is not, however, to railroad the bill but to allow the Assembly to follow its own conscience in final disposition of the measure.

New York, Feb. 21—(AP)—Being left off the Ryder cup golf team is one of the least of Bill Melhorn's worries. The star who drew so much comment when his name was not included on the list of professionals who will go to England in April to compete against the pick of the British pros has discovered that he has gained rather than lost by the decision of the selected committee.

"What have I lost?" he asked. "Merely inclusion on the Ryder cup team. What have I gained? The attention of men who never would have heard of me otherwise."

"Suppose I had been selected as my golfing performances warranted. It would have meant that I was a member of the Ryder cup team, nothing more. I would have been one of the eight golfers selected to compete against eight golfers from England. My name would have been mentioned along with the other members of the team and I would have been lost in the shuffle of Farrills, Sarazens, Armours and other golfers.

"Now since I have not been picked for the team I have had more publicity. I came to the attention of followers of golf who knew me before only by name and very little of that. Golf clubs offered me jobs; my own club, Fenimore, took up the cudgel for me. The men who wrote of S.S.S. It cleared my face and back. I think S.S.S. is wonderful. I have told many friends about S.S.S., and they are getting as much benefit as I did."

Keen sorrow was felt over the passing of Reinhart Aschenbrenner last Saturday. For many years he has been closely identified with all

ABE MARTIN

The ole argyment. "They'll drink it as long as it's made," has been switched around to "They'll make it as long as they drink it." Most any of us kin recall an ole sick spell when we had the time of our lives.

Mrs. Aschenbrenner maintained open hospitality and were familiar figures at the annual Masonic suppers where they assisted in catering to the numerous members and their guests. They were also expert help at the neighborhood butchering and their delicious blend of sausage was famous. An outstanding, kind friend and benefactor has departed, and to the bereaved family this community extends sincere sympathy in our mutual loss. To live in the hearts of those we leave behind is not to die.

An interesting letter from Mrs. James Riley, who with Mr. Riley is spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. B. F. Mason in Memphis, Tenn., inquires about all her old friends and neighbors here. Although they have everything comfortable and warm there she says she would like a little of our good old Illinois cold weather. Her arm, although better, does not work just to suit her yet, but her many friends hope it will soon be much improved. They plan to return to their home here in the spring.
Mr. and Mrs. Earl Suter of Oak

Park attended Reinhart Aschenbrenner's funeral Tuesday. Mrs. Suter and Mrs. S. L. Shaw were the singers, accompanied by Mrs. C. A. Ullrich.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By Edson R. Waite
Sawnee, Oklahoma
E. A. WALKER, PRESIDENT OF THE TRADESMEN NATIONAL BANK, OKLAHOMA CITY, SAYS: THAT if this country is to continue to prosper there must be more industrial development, which means more foreign markets for what is manufactured in this country. Already more grain, more cotton and more farm products are produced than are consumed in the country, and what is said of farm products applies also to manufactured products.

These premises being true, the chief function of our national government is to develop markets that our industries can and do produce in this country. It therefore would follow that about the most important department of our national government is the Department of Commerce, as it has so much to do in developing and promoting our foreign commerce.
Another matter to be considered in the spread between the producer and consumer of what is produced and manufactured in the country. This results in the producer getting a very small price for what is produced and the consumer paying a very high price for the same article. To illustrate, potatoes raised in one section of the country cannot be sold for fifty cents a bushel, and in another section not far removed the same potatoes sell to the consumer at sixty-five cents a peck.

AS MATTERS STAND NOW SOME "BIRTH CONTROL" MUST BE EXERCISED IN REGARD TO NEW RETAIL ESTABLISHMENTS. IT IS ASTONISHING HOW EVERY DISMISSED STREET CAR CONDUCTOR IS INSPIRED TO OPEN A GROCERY STORE. HOW MANY MATRONLY LADIES COMPLIMENTED ON THEIR FUDGE OPEN CANDY SHOPS, AND HOW MANY SOCIETY MATRONS, TIRED OF JUST BEING WIVES, OPEN UP THEIR OWN LINGERIE ESTABLISHMENTS. TRULY THERE ARE PROBLEMS TO BE SOLVED IN THIS COUNTRY.

SYMPATHY CARDS may be purchased at The B. F. Shaw Printing Co.
